Adani Unit to Undertake ₹36,000-cr Redevelopment in Mumbai

Kailash Babar

Mumbai: The Adani Group is set to undertake the redevelopment of more than 143 acres at Motilal Nagar in Mumbai's Goregaon (West), said people with direct knowledge of the development. Adani Properties would partner with the state's housing body for redevelopment that a top official source said could cost ₹36,000 crore.

Maharashtra Housing and Area Development Authority (MHADA), the state housing entity, will maintain full control over the project, including land ownership, while Adani Properties, the construction and development agency (C&DA), will handle design, approvals, construction, infrastructure development, and rehabilitation.

The redevelopment will involve rehabilitating over 3,372 MHADA residential units, 328 commercial units, and 1,600 slum tenements, with a rehabilitation period of seven years from the project's commencement.

"Adani Properties has secured the project by agreeing to provide 3.97 million square metres of built-up area to MHADA, surpassing the second highest offer of 2.6 million square metres. The Maharashtra government has accorded this a "Special Project" status," said a source.

MEGA HOUSING PROJECT

Motilal Nagar I, II & III, is one of Mumbai's biggest housing redevelopment projects. As per tender conditions, C&DA was expected to provide housing stock of 3.83 lakh square metre.

The private developer cannot mortgage the land, raise finance on it, or sell/transfer rights without MHADA's permission. This projects MHADA residents, slum dwellers and prevents misuse of redevelopment right.

The housing density in the redevelopment area is 106 units per hectare, much lower than the DCPR 2034 limit of 450 units per hectare.

The compensation to the developer (C&DA) will be in the form of floor space index (FSI), allowing construction rights on the land. Adani Group declined to comment.

The state government has declared it as a 'special project', with MHADA retaining control over it but working through a C&DA in absence of the necessary potential to accomplish the work, based on economic viability and its capability.

In Dharavi Redevelopment Project (now called Navbharat Mega Developers), Adani Group held an 80% stake while the rest was with the state government.

Under the Dharavi project, Adani plans to turn 620 acres of prime land, about three-quarters of the size of New York's Central Park, into a glitzy urban hub. About one million people live in rickety shanties with open sewers and shared toilets in the densely populated slums, close to Mumbai's international airport.

Eligible residents will be given flats of up to 350 sq ft free of cost as part of the $3 billion redevelopment of rubbish-strewn Mumbai slum of Dharavi into a 'world-class' district.

It will look to turn Motilal Nagar into modern apartments.

New Delhi: After the Dharavi slum redevelopment project, billionaire Gautam Adani's group has emerged as the highest bidder for the Rs 36,000 crore redevelopment project at Motilal Nagar in Mumbai, said sources.

Motilal Nagar I, II & III is one of Mumbai's biggest housing redevelopment projects, covering 143 acres in the western suburb of Goregaon (West). Adani Properties Pvt Ltd (APPL) emerged as the highest bidder, offering more built-up area than its nearest rival, L&T, said sources.

The letter of allotment (LoA) is likely to be issued in due course.

Motilal Nagar in Goregaon is the city's biggest redevelopment project

This will be the second mega redevelopment project of Adani Group in Mumbai. It is already redeveloping Dharavi, one of Asia's largest slums in Mumbai.

Adani Group did not offer any comments on the matter.

The Bombay high court last week gave the Maharashtra Housing and Area Development Authority (MHADA) the go-ahead to redevelop Motilal Nagar through a construction and development agency (C&DA).

The state govt has declared it as a 'special project', with MHADA retaining control over it but working through a C&DA in absence of the necessary potential to accomplish the work, based on economic viability and its capability. The total estimated redevelopment cost of Motilal Nagar is around Rs 36,000 crore, and the rehabilitation period is seven years from the project start/commencement date.

As per tender conditions for Motilal Nagar redevelopment, C&DA must give a housing stock of 3.83 lakh square metres.

APPL won the bid by agreeing to hand over 3.97 lakh sq mt to MHADA. The other qualified bidder, L&T quoted the figure of 2.6 lakh sq mt.

MHADA retains full control over the project, including ownership of the land. It tendered for the redevelopment due to its own financial and technical limitations in handling such a large-scale redevelopment.

Sources said the project aims to eliminate illegal construction and create a planned, well-integrated community in a holistic manner.

The private developer cannot mortgage the land, raise finance on it, or sell/transfer rights without MHADA's permission, according to the tender conditions.

This protects MHADA residents and slum-dwellers, and prevents misuse of redevelopment rights.

The selected C&DA will be responsible for the entire redevelopment process, including design, approvals, construction, infrastructure development and rehabilitation.

MUMBAI

The Gautam Adani Group has secured the mega project for redevelopment of Motilal Nagar, spread over 143 acres in Goregaon (W).

Adani's bid of ₹36,000 crore was the highest and was accepted when the Maharashtra Housing & Area Development Authority (MHADA) opened the bids on Tuesday.

A MHADA official told FPJ that construction major Larsen & Toubro was the second-highest bidder. After winning the Dharavi redevelopment project, Adani has made yet another successful foray into the Mumbai real estate market.

"It is only a matter of time before Adani emerges as the biggest player in Mumbai's real estate market," a city builder observed.

The Motilal Nagar project is expected to significantly impact the real estate market in the western suburbs, where several major developers are already active. Incidentally, India's biggest builder, DLF Pvt Ltd, is set to enter the Mumbai market later this month with a project in Andheri.

Motilal Nagar primarily consists of small, chawl-type houses spread across a vast area, largely occupied by the lower-middle class.

Adani Properties Pvt Ltd (APPL) emerged as the highest bidder, offering more built-up area than its closest rival, L&T, according to sources familiar with the matter.

The Bombay High Court last week granted MHADA the go-ahead to redevelop Motilal Nagar through a construction and development agency (C&DA).

The state government has declared it a "special project," with MHADA retaining control while working through a C&DA due to its own financial and technical limitations in executing such a large-scale redevelopment.

In Dharavi Redevelopment Project Pvt Ltd (now called Navbharat Mega Developers Pvt Ltd), the Adani Group holds an 80% stake, while the remaining 20% is with the state government.

The total estimated cost of redeveloping Motilal Nagar is around ₹36,000 crore, with a rehabilitation period of seven years from the project's commencement.

As per the tender conditions, the selected C&DA must provide a housing stock of 3.83 million square meters. APPL won the bid by agreeing to hand over 3.97 million square meters to MHADA, whereas L&T quoted 2.6 million square meters.

MHADA retains full control over the project, including land ownership. It issued the redevelopment tender due to its financial and technical constraints in handling such an extensive project.

The private developer is prohibited from mortgaging the land, raising finance against it, or selling/transferring rights without MHADA's permission, according to the tender conditions. This ensures the protection of MHADA residents and slum dwellers while preventing misuse of redevelopment rights.

The selected C&DA will be responsible for the entire redevelopment process, including design, approvals, construction, infrastructure development, and rehabilitation.

The project aims to rehabilitate 3,372 residential units eligible under MHADA, 328 eligible commercial units, and 1,600 eligible slum tenements under the 1971 Slum Act.

Last week, a Bombay High Court division bench comprising Chief Justice Alok Aradhe and Justice Bharati Dangre upheld MHADA's decision to carry out redevelopment through a C&DA for integrated development of the entire layout.

The court noted that if individual cooperative societies managed redevelopment, they would prioritize their own interests and likely appoint developers for small-scale projects. This, the court ruled, would hinder orderly planning and infrastructure development while exposing societies and residents to commercial risks from developers.

The court further emphasized that only holistic redevelopment can provide a long-term solution to the recurring problems of flooding and water-logging faced by Motilal Nagar residents—issues that cannot be resolved through piecemeal redevelopment of separate land parcels.
