Adani Ports to Buy Oz Terminal from Group Co in $2.4 billion Deal

APSEZ's fourth overseas acquisition in 2 yrs

Bloomberg

Industrialist Gautam Adani will transfer ownership of an Australian port terminal to his listed company in a deal worth about $2.4 billion, according to people with knowledge of the matter, as India's largest port operator seeks to expand its global footprint.

Adani Ports & Special Economic Zone (APSEZ) will issue preferential shares to an entity controlled by the Adani family in order to acquire the North Queensland Export Terminal Pty Ltd, the people said, asking not to be identified ahead of a formal announcement. APSEZ had purchased the terminal in 2011 before selling it to the family in 2013 in a deal worth about $2 billion, allowing the firm to focus on its Indian operations.

However, APSEZ over the last two years has been seeking to dominate maritime routes where Indian trade is expected to increase. The latest purchase would be the fourth international port asset for the Adani group after Haifa in Israel, Colombo in Sri Lanka and the Port of Dar es Salaam in Tanzania.

An Adani Group representative didn't immediately respond to an email seeking comment.

APSEZ had previously said its board is meeting on Thursday to seek shareholder approval for issuance of preference shares.

Situated within the Port of Abbot Point, about 25 kilometers north of the town of Bowen on Queensland's east coast, the deep-water coal terminal has a nameplate capacity of 50 million tons per year. More than 30 million tons of thermal and metallurgical coal are exported annually through the terminal, which is owned by the Queensland government and leased by North Queensland Export Terminal Pty under a 99-year leasehold.

North Queensland Export Terminal Pty is part of the Adani Group.

Mumbai: Adani Ports & Special Economic Zone (APSEZ) will reacquire North Queensland Export Terminal (NQXT) in Australia from its promoters, the Adani family, for an equity valuation of $2 billion in a non-cash deal, the company said in an exchange filing and statement on Thursday. The move is aimed at bringing all port assets under one umbrella as well as strengthening the company's overseas expansion plan.

The APSEZ board approved acquisition of Abbot Point Port Holdings Pte Ltd, which owns the entities operating NQXT, from Carmichael Rail and Port Singapore Holdings Pte Ltd (CRPSHPL), owned by Adani family.

As part of the transaction, APSEZ will issue 143.8 million new equity shares to CRPSHPL, raising the promoters' stake in APSEZ by 2.13% to 68.02%. APSEZ had originally purchased the terminal from the Queensland government in 2011 for $2 billion. It was sold to the family in 2013.

The terminal—located at the Port of Abbot Point in Queensland—has a capacity of 50 MTPA.

Besides this, APSEZ has overseas operations at Haifa, Israel, Dar-es-Salaam, Tanzania, and Colombo, Sri Lanka.

APSEZ will assume non-core assets and liabilities on the Abbot Point Port Holdings balance sheet, which will be realised within months, having no net impact on the transaction valuation. APSEZ's leverage will remain unchanged after the acquisition, it said. The transaction "is an integral part of APSEZ's strategy to handle one billion metric tons of cargo by 2030," the company said. "APSEZ expects 15% of the 2030 cargo to come from international operations, including NQXT."

NQXT's enterprise value was pegged at A$3.97 billion (US $2.53 billion) and debt at A$819 billion. The Australian port had an Ebitda of A$228 million in FY25. The acquisition will add 7% to AP-SEZ's Ebitda, according to a company presentation.

"With its domestic position now established and having significantly de-levered its balance sheet, the company is reacquiring this asset to achieve its growth objectives," said a person aware of the matter.

Since 2013, APSEZ's market share in India has nearly tripled from 10% to 27%, the company said. This acquisition will expand its portfolio to 19 ports and terminals—15 in India and four abroad.

In 2013, the Adani family bought the terminal from APSEZ for $2 billion plus capital invested as the board decided at the time that the return on investment would be better if the money was used for expansion in India than in Australia. The sale also helped the company to deleverage its balance sheet, having acquired Dhamra Port in Odisha for an enterprise value of Rs 5,500 crore.

"NQXT is a strategic addition to our international portfolio, with strong growth potential and long-term contracts," CEO Ashwani Gupta said in the statement on Thursday. "We expect Ebitda to reach A$400 million in four years, supported by upcoming renewals and future opportunities like green hydrogen exports."

MUMBAI

Ahmedabad-headquartered Adani Ports and Special Economic Zone Ltd (APSEZ) said Thursday that it will buy a port terminal in Australia's Queensland from a promoter company in a non-cash deal that values the 50-million-tonnes-per-annum (mtpa) capacity asset at an enterprise value of $3,975 million (approximately $2.5 billion).

The Adanis' flagship port company will issue 143.8 million equity shares to Carmichael Rail and Port Singapore Holdings Pte Ltd, Singapore (CRPSHPL). CRPSHPL is a promoter-owned entity that ultimately owns the North Queensland Export Terminal (NQXT). The transaction will see promoter shareholding in APSEZ go up by 2.13 percentage points to 68.02%.

APSEZ had first purchased the port terminal in 2011 for about ₹9,000 crore, as per news reports. However, the asset was sold to the Adani family in 2013 to manage the debt of the listed company.

"NQXT's acquisition is a pivotal step in our international strategy, opening new export markets and securing long-term contracts with valued users," Ashwani Gupta, whole-time director & chief executive, APSEZ, said in a press statement.

The terminal is strategically located on the East-West trade corridor, he said. The company is aiming to grow the Ebitda from the asset to $400 million (about $255 million) in four years, Gupta further said. It recorded an Ebitda of $228 million in FY25. Ebitda refers to earnings before interest, tax, depreciation and amortization.

The terminal has a rated capacity of 50 mtpa and the company estimates that the capacity can be ramped up to 120 mtpa as demand grows. In the previous fiscal year (FY25), the terminal handled 35 million metric tonnes of cargo, the company said.

As part of the transaction, APSEZ will also assume other non-core assets and liabilities associated with the terminal. However, APSEZ's leverage will remain at sim-year 2010.

The terminal has a "high quality customer base" operating in the Bowen and Galilee mining basins. These mining companies export metallurgical and energy coal to over 15 countries from NQXT.

APSEZ is India's largest commercial ports operator, and accounts for almost one-fourth of the cargo movement in the country. The expansion is part of APSEZ's stated goal of handling 1 billion tonnes per annum capacity by 2030. It handled 450 million tonnes in FY25, as per an investor presentation. The company reported consolidated revenue of ₹26,711 crore in FY24, and net profit of ₹8,104 crore, per data from the BSE.

The company's shares closed 2.2% higher at ₹1,259.90 on the BSE on Thursday. The transaction was announced after market hours.

Adani Ports buys Aus terminal in $2.5-billion deal

Mumbai, April 17

ADANI PORTS AND SEZ, the country's biggest private port operator, on Thursday said it has acquired a coal export terminal in Australia from a group company in a $2.4-billion non-cash deal. The move is aimed at strengthening presence in the Asia-Pacific region.

The company has bought Abbot Point Port Holdings (APPH), Singapore, from Carmichael Rail and Port Singapore Holdings Singapore (CRP-SHPL), according to a statement.

APPH owns the entities which own and operate the North Queensland Export Terminal, a dedicated export terminal with a current capacity of 50 million tonne per annum. The terminal is located at Port of Abbot Point, nearly 25 km north of Bowen in north Queensland on Australia's east coast.

In 2011, APSEZ had acquired the North Queensland Export Terminal (NQXT) at Abbott Point for $2 billion. Two years later in 2013, the Adani family purchased the asset from APSEZ for the same amount, along with the capital invested, allowing the company to focus on Indian operations.

However, over the last two years, APSEZ has been seeking to dominate maritime routes where Indian trade is expected to increase.

"APSEZ will issue 143 million equity shares to CRPSHPL for acquiring 100% interest in APPH. This is based on enterprise value of NQXT of A$3,975 million. As part of the transaction, APSEZ will also assume other non-core assets and liabilities on APPH's balance sheet, which APSEZ will realise within a few months of the acquisition," the statement said. APSEZ's leverage will remain at similar levels after the transaction.

"NQXT's acquisition is a pivotal step in our international strategy, opening new export markets and securing long-term contracts with valued users," Ashwani Gupta, whole-time director & CEO, APSEZ, said.

NQXT is poised for robust growth as a high-performing asset driven by increased capacity, upcoming contract renewals in the medium term, and the potential for green hydrogen exports in the long term, Gupta said. He added that they are looking to grow Ebitda to A$400 million within four years.

The acquisition will accelerate APSEZ's target of doubling its volumes to 1 billion tonne per annum by FY30.

Adani Ports to acquire Australian terminal in $2.4 bn non-cash deal

NEW DELHI: Adani Ports and SEZ Ltd, India's biggest private port operator, announced on Thursday a $2.4 billion non-cash acquisition of a coal export terminal in Australia from a group company to strengthen its presence in the Asia-Pacific region.

The Board of APSEZ "approved the acquisition of Abbot Point Port Holdings Pte Ltd (APPH), Singapore, from Carmichael Rail and Port Singapore Holdings Pte Ltd, Singapore (CRPSHPL)", the company said in a statement.

CRPSHPL is a related party.

APPH owns the entities which own and operate the North Queensland Export Terminal, a dedicated export terminal with a current nameplate capacity of 50 million tonnes per annum (MTPA). The terminal is located at the Port of Abbot Point, approximately 25 km north of Bowen in North Queensland on Australia's east coast.

APSEZ had originally, in 2011, acquired the North Queensland Export Terminal (NQXT) at Abbot Point for $2 billion. Two years later, in 2013, the Adani family purchased the asset from APSEZ for the same amount, along with the capital invested, enabling the company to concentrate on expanding its domestic operations.

Now, with a strengthened balance sheet and a dominant position in India, APSEZ is re-acquiring the terminal as part of its global growth strategy.

"The transaction will be completed on a non-cash basis. APSEZ will issue 14.38 crore new equity shares to CRPSHPL in exchange of APPH's balance sheet, which APSEZ will realise within a few months of the acquisition (zero net impact on the transaction valuation). APSEZ's leverage will remain at similar levels post the transaction," the statement said without giving details of the liabilities.

The acquisition will accelerate the APSEZ's target of doubling its volumes to 1 billion tonnes per an-

num by FY30, with a potential to near quadruple its volume - from 35 million tonnes in FY25 to 120 million tonnes, including potential exports of green hydrogen from Australia, the company said.

This is the fourth overseas acquisition for India's largest port developer in the past two years. With this, the company will have a portfolio of 19 ports and terminals - 15 domestic and 4 overseas. A port in Israel, terminals in Tanzania and Sri Lanka are the other three international locations where APSEZ has its operations.

NQXT has a contract with Bra- vus Mining and Resources (formerly Adani Mining, fully owned by Adani Enterprises) for the export of 9.3 million tonnes of thermal coal from the Adani Carmichael coal mine.

The move by APSEZ comes at a time when the global ports industry is gaining strong prominence amid rising trade tensions, particularly between the US and China. US investment giant Black-Rock is reportedly seeking to acquire Panama Ports from Hong Kong-based conglomerate CK Hutchison for $23 billion but has faced resistance from Chinese stakeholders.

Last year in January, Black-Rock also acquired Global Infrastructure Partners (GIP), which holds stakes in ports globally in a $12.5 billion deal.

APSEZ CEO Ashwani Gupta said, "We are targeting EBITDA growing to Australian Dollar 400 million within 4 years."

Adani Ports and SEZ Ltd, India's biggest private port operator, announced on Thursday a USD 2.4 billion non-cash acquisition of a coal export terminal in Australia from a group company to strengthen its presence in the Asia-Pacific region.

The Board of APSEZ "approved the acquisition of Abbot Point Port Holdings Pte Ltd (APPH), Singapore, from Carmichael Rail and Port Singapore Holdings Pte Ltd, Singapore (CRPSHPL)", the company said in a statement.

for USD 2 billion. Two years later, in 2013, the Adani family purchased the asset from APSEZ for the same amount, along with the capital invested, enabling the company to concentrate on expanding its domestic operations.

"The transaction will be completed on a non-cash basis. APSEZ will issue 14.38 crore new equity shares to CRPSHPL in exchange for the acquisition of 100 per cent interest in APPH. This is based on an enterprise value of NQXT of Australian Dollar 3.975 billion (about USD 2.4 billion)," the statement said.

The acquisition is valued at almost similar levels to the transfer done in 2013. This valuation is despite capital investments, growth and inflation of the past 12 years and at slightly discounted multiples to the recent deals in the region.

"As part of the transaction, APSEZ will also assume other non-core assets and liabilities on APPH's balance sheet, which APSEZ will realise within a few months of the acquisition (zero net impact on the transaction valuation). This is the fourth overseas acquisition for India's largest port developer in the past two years. With this, the company will have a portfolio of 19 ports and terminals - 15 domestic and 4 overseas. A port in Israel, terminals in Tanzania and Sri Lanka are the other three international locations where APSEZ has its operations.

NQXT has a contract with Bravus Mining and Resources (formerly Adani Mining, fully owned by Adani Enterprises) for the export of 9.3 million tonnes of thermal coal from the Adani Carmichael coal mine.

The move by APSEZ comes at a time when the global ports industry is gaining strong prominence amid rising trade tensions, particularly between the US and China.

US investment giant BlackRock is reportedly seeking to acquire Panama Ports from Hong Kong-based conglomerate CK Hutchison for USD 23 billion but has faced resistance from Chinese stakeholders.

PTI

NEW DELHI

Adani Ports and SEZ Ltd, India's biggest private port operator, announced on Thursday a USD 2.4 billion non-cash acquisition of a coal export terminal in Australia from a group company to strengthen its presence in the Asia-Pacific region.

The Board of APSEZ "approved the acquisition of Abbot Point Port Holdings Pte Ltd (APPH), Singapore, from Carmichael Rail and Port Singapore Holdings Pte Ltd, Singapore (CRPSHPL)", the company said in a statement.

CRPSHPL is a related party.

APPH owns the entities which own and operate the North Queensland Export Terminal, a dedicated export terminal with a current nameplate capacity of 50 million tonnes per annum (MTPA). The terminal is located at the Port of Abbot Point, approximately 25 km north of Bowen in North Queensland on Australia's east coast.

APSEZ had originally, in 2011, acquired the North

Queensland Export Terminal (NQXT) at Abbott Point for USD 2 billion. Two years later, in 2013, the Adani family purchased the asset from APSEZ for the same amount, along with the capital invested, enabling the company to concentrate on expanding its domestic operations.

Now, with a strengthened balance sheet and a dominant position in India, APSEZ is re-acquiring the terminal as part of its global growth strategy.

The acquisition is valued at almost similar levels to the transfer done in 2013.

Adani Ports to acquire Australian terminal in $2.4 bn non-cash deal

‘APSEZ will issue 14.38 crore new equity shares to CRPSHPL in exchange for the acquisition of 100 per cent interest in APPH’

OUR CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI: Adani Ports and SEZ Ltd, India's biggest private port operator, announced on Thursday a $2.4 billion non-cash acquisition of a coal export terminal in Australia from a group company to strengthen its presence in the Asia-Pacific region.

The Board of APSEZ “approved the acquisition of Abbot Point Port Holdings Pte Ltd (APPH), Singapore, from Carmichael Rail and Port Singapore Holdings Pte Ltd, Singapore (CRPSHPL)”, the company said in a statement. CRPSHPL is a related party.

APPH owns the entities which own and operate the North Queensland Export Terminal, a dedicated export terminal with a current nameplate capacity of 50 million tonnes per annum (MTPA). The terminal is located at the Port of Abbot Point, approximately 25 km north of Bowen in North Queensland on Australia's east coast.

APSEZ had originally, in 2011, acquired the North Queensland Export Terminal (NQXT) at Abbott Point for $2 billion. Two years later, in 2013, the Adani family purchased the asset from APSEZ for the same amount, along with the capital invested, enabling the company to concentrate on expanding its domestic operations.

Now, with a strengthened balance sheet and a dominant position in India, APSEZ is re-acquiring the terminal as part of its global growth strategy.

“The transaction will be completed on a non-cash basis. APSEZ will issue 14.38 crore new equity shares to CRPSHPL in exchange for the acquisition of 100 per cent interest in APPH. This is based on an enterprise value of NQXT of Australian Dollar 3.975 billion (about $2.4 billion),” the statement said.

‘This is based on an enterprise value of NQXT of Australian Dollar 3.975 bn (about $2.4 bn),’ the statement said tion of 100 per cent interest in APPH. This is based on an enterprise value of NQXT of Australian Dollar 3.975 billion (about $2.4 billion),” the statement said.

The acquisition is valued at almost similar levels to the transfer done in 2013. This valuation is despite capital investments, growth and inflation of the past 12 years and at slightly discounted multiples to the recent deals in the region.

“As part of the transaction, APSEZ will also assume other non-core assets and liabilities on APPH's balance sheet, which APSEZ will realise within a few months of the acquisition (zero net impact on the transaction valuation). APSEZ's leverage will remain at similar levels post the transaction,” the statement said without giving details of the liabilities.

The acquisition will accelerate the APSEZ's target of doubling its volumes to 1 billion tonnes per annum by FY30, with a potential to near quadruple its volume - from 35 million tonnes in FY25 to 120 million tonnes, including potential exports of green hydrogen from Australia, the company said.

Key Points

- » APSEZ ‘approved acquisition of APPH, from Carmichael Rail & Port Singapore Holdings Pte Ltd (CRPSHPL)
- » APPH owns the entities which own and operate the North Queensland Export Terminal
- » The terminal is located at the Port of Abbot Point, approximately 25 km north of Bowen in North Queensland on Australia's east coast druple its volume - from 35 million tonnes in FY25 to 120 million tonnes, including potential exports of green hydrogen from Australia, the company said.

This is the fourth overseas acquisition for India's largest port developer in the past two years. With this, the company will have a portfolio of 19 ports and terminals - 15 domestic and 4 overseas.

A port in Israel, terminals in Tanzania and Sri Lanka are the other three international locations where APSEZ has its operations.

NQXT has a contract with Bravus Mining and Resources (formerly Adani Mining, fully owned by Adani Enterprises) for the export of 9.3 million tonnes of thermal coal from the Adani Carmichael coal mine.

The move by APSEZ comes at a time when the global ports industry is gaining strong prominence amid rising trade tensions, particularly between the US and China.

US investment giant Black-

Rock is reportedly seeking to acquire Panama Ports from Hong Kong-based conglomerate CK Hutchison for $23 billion but has faced resistance from Chinese stakeholders.

Last year in January, Black-Rock also acquired Global Infrastructure Partners (GIP), which holds stakes in ports globally in a $12.5 billion deal.

In 2019, DP World increased its stake in its Australian port at a slightly higher valuation multiple of 18x EV/EBITDA. APSEZ is acquiring NQXT at a near 17x.

“For APSEZ, India will continue to remain an area of focus. The company is very selective in its overseas plans and will only participate in locations where Indian trade routes will play a significant role. This acquisition will bring in all group ports under one roof, allowing higher synergies,” said a senior company official explaining APSEZ's approach to overseas expansion.

Having no direct exposure to the western region, NQXT, the deep-water terminal has 90 per cent exposure to the faster-growing Asian market, with China and India accounting for nearly half of the volumes, said a senior company source.

Based in Queensland, this deepwater port is near Bowen and Galilee mining basins and has a high-quality customer base, said the company.

On FY25 numbers, the acquisition will add 8 per cent to APSEZ's volumes and 6.4 per cent to its EBITDA.

Even though not a part of China's Belt and Road Initiative, Australia, one of the most resource-rich nations, has drawn nearly $9 billion in Chinese investment in its ports sector, second only to Tanzania. Australia also remains an important trading and strategic partner for India when it comes to natural resources.

Speaking on the acquisition, APSEZ CEO Ashwani Gupta said, “NQXT's acquisition is a pivotal step in our international strategy, opening new export markets and securing long-term contracts with valued users. Strategically located on the East-West trade corridor, NQXT is poised for robust growth as a high-performing asset, driven by increased capacity, upcoming contract renewals in the medium term, and the potential for green hydrogen exports in the long term.”

“We are targeting EBITDA growing to Australian Dollar 400 million within 4 years.”

The Port of Abbot Point (within which NQXT is located) has been declared as a strategic port and a Priority Port Development Area by the Queensland Government.

NQXT is under a long-term lease from the Queensland Government and is a critical infrastructure asset supporting Australia's significant resource industry.

It provides strategic access to currently eight major customers under long-term ‘take or pay’ contracts. During FY25, NQXT had a contract capacity of 40 million tonnes and handled an all-time high cargo volume of 35 million tonnes. Cargo from NQXT was exported to 15 countries, including 88 per cent to Asia and 10 per cent to Europe.

NQXT posted Australian Dollar 349 million in revenue and EBITDA of Australian Dollar 228 million in FY25.
