{ FACE-OFF IN AKSA VILLAGE }

Survey for Dharavi rehab blocked again

Sabah Virani

Sabah.virani@hindustantimes.com

MUMBAI: On Thursday, Aksa village in Malad saw a determined face-off between locals and city survey officials (CSO) from the collector's office who had come to survey a plot for the rehabilitation of residents from the Gautam Adani-led Dharavi Redevelopment Project.

Having stalled one attempt like this, the locals were all set to ensure that the second one too met with failure. However, the officials gave them the slip by arriving three hours earlier in a police van.

"Villagers were waiting at the ground's entrance from 9 am to prevent the officials' entry, only to find out they had already entered and were beginning the survey," said Kiran Koli, general secretary of the Maharashtra Machhimar Kruti Samiti. "As soon as this came to light, around 3,000 more people left their homes to come and stop them."

Rajendra Kshirsagar, district collector of Mumbai Suburban, however, claimed that the survey was completed before the protestors could stop it.

The throng of people carried placards, declaring they were 'bhoomiputra' or sons of the soil in opposition to 'Adani' after their lands. The barricades erected away from the entrance ensured that they could not enter but their loud slogans nevertheless made the officials back off, said Dhanaji Koli, a prominent member of the fishermen's society. "The police took them out via another exit to Malvani police station," he said. "We followed."

Around 3,000 protestors assembled on Thursday near the plot earmarked for survey.

The protestors—a mix of Kolis (fishermen), Bhandaris (farming communities), East Indians, Adivasis, and other residents of Aksa, Madh, Kharodi and Malvani villages—only calmed down when the CSO officials agreed to give them a letter saying the land had not been measured. The previous owners of the land, the Shri Mukteshwar Vividh Karyakari Seva Sahakari Society, were also present, along with farmers who have land adjoining the plot.

The crowd reached Malvani police station by 12 noon. There, the CSO officials assured them that they had stopped the survey, noted down the residents' objections and said they would relay them to the revenue department.

The protests have been on ever since the announcement in October that 140 acres at Aksa and Madh had been allotted to resettle ineligible residents of the Dharavi Redevelopment Project. A previous attempt at a survey was blocked in November 2024.

The protestors' objections are on two counts: the land is in use by them for their livelihood, and an influx in population will add to the already present strain on civic resources. "We use part of this land to dry our fish," said Dhanaji. The rest—a large open plot filled with greenery and plants—was given to the Shri Mukteshwar Sanstha in the 1950-60s by the Maharashtra government for farming, and taken back two years ago.

"The Bombay high court has ordered the revenue department to complete hearings for the land within four months and only then start the survey," continued Dhanaji. "But the CSO office nevertheless started it. We need to be part of this decision to give away our land and want the government to hold proper talks with us about our concerns before going ahead with anything."

Kiran said that their areas were already plagued by a water shortage. "Besides, the roads are bad and inadequate, causing a lot of traffic," he said. "An additional 800,000 people will add to our burden. We have lived here for generations and need this space for ourselves. Instead, it is being given to outsiders."

Adani declined to comment on the protest.

Emaar to sell India biz stake

OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

Mumbai: Emaar Properties PJSC (Emaar) on Friday confirmed that it is in talks with various Indian companies, including the Adani group, for a potential stake sale in the Indian arm.

"With reference to media reports regarding the discussion with the Adani group about the company's business in India, the company would like to confirm that it is currently in discussion with a few groups in India, including the Adani group, for a potential sale of stake in Emaar India. The valuation and other terms of a potential transaction are not finalised," it said in a regulatory filing to the Dubai stock exchange.

Earlier, a Mint report said that Emaar and the Adani group were in discussions for acquisition of a majority stake in Emaar India for ₹4,000-5,000 crore. If the deal fructifies, it will be the biggest transaction for Gautam Adani in the real estate space.

Till now, the group has resorted to a plethora of acquisitions in the cement sector as it looks to catch up with UltraTech Cements.

While the Adani group's presence in the country's real estate sector is limited to Mumbai and Western India, it is looking to expand this reach across residential, commercial and retail.

Adani Realty, which won the bid for the Dharavi redevelopment project, had last year emerged as the largest bidder for redeveloping the Maharashtra State Road Development Corporation's (MSRDC) 24-acre land at Bandra Reclamation near to the Bandra-Worli sealink.

The project will house both commercial and residential units. According to its website, Emaar India has projects in Alibag (Maharashtra), and New Gurgaon. These include luxury villas, apartments and residential plots.

Shares of Adani Enterprises on Friday ended at ₹2,397.40 on the BSE, a drop of 1.22 per cent over the last close.

मालाड अक्सा में धारावी पुनर्वास का विरोध

■ NBT रिपोर्ट, मुंबई: धारावी के लोगों का वसेरा मालाड अक्सा बने इसका स्थानीय लोगों ने भारी विरोध किया है। सर्वे करने आए अधिकारियों को विरोध के चलते भागना पड़ा। इस विरोध का नेतृत्व करने वाले स्थानीय विधायक असलम शेख ने बताया कि हम किसी भी हालत में मछुआरों के उपयोग में आने वाली अक्सा की जमीन को अदाणी को नहीं देने देंगे। विरोध प्रदर्शन के दौरान विधायक असलम शेख और पुलिस के बीच नोकझोंक भी हुई। मालवणी पुलिस स्टेशन के सामने लोगों ने नारे लगाए कि धारावी के लोगों

को अक्सा में नहीं बसने देंगे।

धारावी पुनर्विकास परियोजना के प्रभावितों का पुनर्वास राज्य सरकार मुलुंड, दहिसर, कुर्ला, मालाड अक्सा सहित और

कई जगहों पर करना चाहती है। उसके लिए सरकार ने जीआर भी निकाला है, लेकिन जमीनों को चिन्हित नहीं किया है। सरकार ने जहां भी जमीन देने का निर्णय

लिया है वहां से विरोध हो रहा है। दहिसर में तो आंदोलन करने वालों ने पुलिस का घेराव भी किया था। मालाड पश्चिम में अक्सा गांव के सामने ही करीब 500 एकड़ जमीन है, जिसमें से 140 एकड़ जमीन पर सरकार धारावी के लोगों को बसाना चाहती है। इसका स्थानीय स्तर पर भारी विरोध हो रहा है। विधानसभा चुनाव से पहले सरकार ने धारावी के लोगों को अक्सा में बसाने का प्रस्ताव मंजूर किया था। जमीन को चिन्हित करने के लिए सरकारी बाबू आए, लेकिन विरोध के कारण उन्हें वहां से भागना पड़ा।
